

SILVER AND LEAD

Silver 60 1/2 cents.
Lead, $4.35.
Copper, 17 cents.

TWENTY-NINTH YEAR.

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

Royal Send-off Was Given Them When They Left
San Francisco Yesterday Afternoon.

Officers of the Batteries, in Interviews, Say They Will
Not Re-enter National Guard.

(Special to The Herald.)
San Francisco, Aug. 17.—The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home.

There was a memorable farewell at the Market street ferry, where the soldiers were met at 2 o'clock to take the boat connecting with the special at the Oakland mole. San Francisco was slow to give up these warriors, and for an hour thousands cheered and threw kisses until the air was white with handkerchiefs and resounding with hurrahs. When the soldiers came to the ferry, the crowd was so dense that the boat could not get away until 3 o'clock.

Three cheers for "Happy Jack Hall," the soldier who was the first to be discharged, were given. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

When the special left through Oakland, with the colors waving proudly from Major Grant's car, there was another big demonstration. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The boys expect to reach Ogden Saturday about 2 o'clock, and will be met by their families. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH: FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1899

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

Royal Send-off Was Given Them When They Left
San Francisco Yesterday Afternoon.

Officers of the Batteries, in Interviews, Say They Will
Not Re-enter National Guard.

(Special to The Herald.)
San Francisco, Aug. 17.—The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home.

There was a memorable farewell at the Market street ferry, where the soldiers were met at 2 o'clock to take the boat connecting with the special at the Oakland mole. San Francisco was slow to give up these warriors, and for an hour thousands cheered and threw kisses until the air was white with handkerchiefs and resounding with hurrahs. When the soldiers came to the ferry, the crowd was so dense that the boat could not get away until 3 o'clock.

Three cheers for "Happy Jack Hall," the soldier who was the first to be discharged, were given. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

When the special left through Oakland, with the colors waving proudly from Major Grant's car, there was another big demonstration. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The boys expect to reach Ogden Saturday about 2 o'clock, and will be met by their families. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH: FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1899

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

Royal Send-off Was Given Them When They Left
San Francisco Yesterday Afternoon.

Officers of the Batteries, in Interviews, Say They Will
Not Re-enter National Guard.

(Special to The Herald.)
San Francisco, Aug. 17.—The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home.

There was a memorable farewell at the Market street ferry, where the soldiers were met at 2 o'clock to take the boat connecting with the special at the Oakland mole. San Francisco was slow to give up these warriors, and for an hour thousands cheered and threw kisses until the air was white with handkerchiefs and resounding with hurrahs. When the soldiers came to the ferry, the crowd was so dense that the boat could not get away until 3 o'clock.

Three cheers for "Happy Jack Hall," the soldier who was the first to be discharged, were given. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

When the special left through Oakland, with the colors waving proudly from Major Grant's car, there was another big demonstration. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The boys expect to reach Ogden Saturday about 2 o'clock, and will be met by their families. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH: FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1899

UTAH SOLDIERS ARE NOW
SPEEDING TOWARD HOME

Royal Send-off Was Given Them When They Left
San Francisco Yesterday Afternoon.

Officers of the Batteries, in Interviews, Say They Will
Not Re-enter National Guard.

(Special to The Herald.)
San Francisco, Aug. 17.—The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home. The Utah soldiers are now speeding toward home.

There was a memorable farewell at the Market street ferry, where the soldiers were met at 2 o'clock to take the boat connecting with the special at the Oakland mole. San Francisco was slow to give up these warriors, and for an hour thousands cheered and threw kisses until the air was white with handkerchiefs and resounding with hurrahs. When the soldiers came to the ferry, the crowd was so dense that the boat could not get away until 3 o'clock.

Three cheers for "Happy Jack Hall," the soldier who was the first to be discharged, were given. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

When the special left through Oakland, with the colors waving proudly from Major Grant's car, there was another big demonstration. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The boys expect to reach Ogden Saturday about 2 o'clock, and will be met by their families. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

There is some friction among the officers of the batteries concerning their discharge. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The soldiers were given a royal send-off when they left San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

WEATHER TODAY.

Forecast for Salt Lake Today is:
Showers; Stationary Temperature.

NUMBER 76

FORGERY EXPOSED THAT MAY ACQUITT DREYFUS

A Letter That Formed the Principal Point In General Mercier's Damaging Testimony.

Belief That Demange Will Drive a Nail In the Coffin of the Prosecution Today.

Paris, Aug. 17.—A special edition of Figaro just issued exposes another alleged forgery in the Dreyfus case by publishing this telegram from Em:

"The letter of Nov. 30, 1897, attributed to me, and reproduced in the Figaro of Aug. 16, 1899, is a forgery. SCHNEIDER."

The letter referred to was one from Schneider, the Austrian military attaché at Paris, in which he was alleged to have said Schwartzkoppen and Parizardi, respectively the German and Italian attaches, were trying to make out that it was not Dreyfus who was giving them information, and adding that he had no belief in these protestations. M. Cavagnac, the former minister of war, in his testimony, made a great point of this.

Commenting on the forgery, the Figaro says: "We are sending this forgery to Colonel Jonaus, president of the court martial, who certainly will not hesitate to call upon General Mercier, General Roget and others to know how they made such a great point of this forgery in their evidence."

Rennes, Aug. 17.—The publication by the Figaro of the Schneider telegram, exposing another alleged forgery, caused a great sensation here, and tonight the general impression is that Schneider's disavowal has dealt a severe blow to the prosecution. Killing the only principal in General Mercier's evidence that was dangerous to Dreyfus.

It is expected that the matter will be brought up in court tomorrow by M. Demange, who has a splendid opportunity to drive a nail into the coffin of the prosecution.

Rennes, Aug. 17.—With the usual attending and without any noteworthy incident, the second trial by court martial of Captain Alfred Dreyfus of the artillery, charged with treason, was resumed this morning in the Lycée. Previous to the opening of the proceedings it became known that Maître Labori, leading counsel for Dreyfus, who was shot in the back from ambush Monday, was slightly worse today. His physicians have not yet extracted the bullet. White fever last night, and it is not believed he will be able to attend court Monday. Consequently, Maître Labori, counsel for the Dreyfus family before the court of cassation in the trial revision proceedings, has been summoned to replace M. Labori on such time as the latter is able to resume his duties. M. Demange is expected to appear early in the morning. Although he is a poor substitute for the brilliant, energetic Labori, it is hoped his presence will strengthen the defense.

Friends prevented Maître Albert Clemenceau, counsel to the assistance of Dreyfus as planned immediately after the assassination of M. Labori. However, in spite of the difficulties encountered by the defense, the trial is expected to open with brighter prospects for the prisoner, as M. Demange, of counsel for the defense, evidently has a better chance of prevailing than the prosecution. The latter resumed his deposition on the opening of the court, dealing with the theft of the cipher disk from the general's study. A number of the counsel's shots struck the bull's eye and made the general squirm in his seat.

Demange Corners Roget. Unfortunately, M. Demange is not yet in his stride, and the Dreyfus case is still in the hands of the prosecution. The whole ground of this witness' deposition, General Roget will probably be called to the stand later.

The trial was so close to the witness' deposition, General Roget will probably be called to the stand later. The trial was so close to the witness' deposition, General Roget will probably be called to the stand later.

Point Scored For Dreyfus. M. Jaures, the Socialist leader, who was among those present in court, remarked on the conclusion of the magistrate's testimony:

"This is the first time the truth, and the whole truth, has been told before the judges."

Dreyfus displayed the keenest interest in the statements of M. Bertulus, seemingly completely absorbed in his words, and straining forward to catch every syllable.

After a brief confrontation of M. Bertulus and Mme. Henry, widow of Colonel Henry, Colonel Picquart, former chief of the intelligence bureau, was included in the intervention of letters addressed to Esterhazy. There had also been searches of Henry's house during his absence.

Admits Esterhazy a Scoundrel. All these measures, the witness asserted, were carried out without the authorization of the minister of war, who was not even informed of them. Moreover, he asserted, the investigations were carried out without the secret service fund. The witness also objected to Colonel Picquart's methods of watching Mlle. Paysa. In regard to the Esterhazy case, the witness said the Esterhazy was a gambler and an immoral character, but he asserted "while I have acknowledged his little failings, I nevertheless maintain he has been the victim of abominable persecution."

General Roget next spoke of the arrest of Belfort of Quendill, declaring that Picquart cooked up the allegations of spying without Quendill in order to attract to himself the approval of his superiors.

The witness then dwelt upon the alleged forgery of the Schneider telegram, which he had given before the mobilization and concentration of the troops, pointing out that while intelligent and industrious, Dreyfus was "far too inquisitive, exacting, which did not concern him, to the detriment of his proper duties."

Dreyfus Self-possessed. Replying to a question of the court, General Roget replied that so far as he knew, Dreyfus had only once been given an imaginary task as a test. The prisoner listened intently to the witness, Dreyfus' self-control contrasting markedly with his excitement of yesterday.

M. Demange asked Colonel Jonaus, president of the court martial, to request General Roget to repeat the explanation of the court of cassation in regard to the part played in the affair by Major Du Paty de Clam, whereupon the witness declared that the court of cassation had found no fault with the conduct of Du Paty de Clam's steps to warn Esterhazy of the campaign said to be organizing against him. The general said he believed that the Esterhazy could be explained by the general staff, but he had not acted against De Clam because he saw nothing in it, in what he had done to save Esterhazy.

With reference to the document Esterhazy, a document forged in order to secure the release of Esterhazy, who he was court-martialed, General Roget said he only knew how it reached the ministry of war, adding that its disappearance was a curious mystery. But he said, doubtless De Clam could explain the matter.

Efforts to Save Esterhazy. Counsel for the defense here wanted to know how, under such circumstances, De Clam's intervention in behalf of Esterhazy could be explained. But the witness could only attribute it to Du Paty de Clam's moral conviction of Esterhazy's innocence.

"In my opinion, the general staff must be entirely disassociated with the part played by Du Paty de Clam in this case," he said.

"Certainly," replied M. Demange. "I attach great importance to this point," was the general's next remark. M. Demange asserted that, but added: "What I would like to know is how an innocent man like Esterhazy was thought to need this kind of help?"

"It is certain I should not have done it," answered the witness, which caused renewed laughter.

The general then added that although he would not intervene himself to save Esterhazy, he did not consider the course followed as being reprehensible.

Was a Curious Proceeding. M. Demange then questioned the witness as to what he thought of Esterhazy's attempt to obtain from an agent a declaration that he had nothing to do with the affair to which the general referred. Esterhazy admitted that Esterhazy's action was a curious proceeding for an innocent man to take.

Counsel then invited the special attestation of the court martial to the witness' reply. Then he took the general to task for playing yesterday the part of general accuser, particularly to the Esterhazy case. The general replied that he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case, but he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case, but he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case.

General Roget, on resuming his testimony, criticized the surveillance inaugurated by Colonel Picquart over Lieutenant Colonel Henry. His surveillance, he said, lasted several months, and included the intervention of letters addressed to Esterhazy. There had also been searches of Henry's house during his absence.

Admits Esterhazy a Scoundrel. All these measures, the witness asserted, were carried out without the authorization of the minister of war, who was not even informed of them. Moreover, he asserted, the investigations were carried out without the secret service fund. The witness also objected to Colonel Picquart's methods of watching Mlle. Paysa. In regard to the Esterhazy case, the witness said the Esterhazy was a gambler and an immoral character, but he asserted "while I have acknowledged his little failings, I nevertheless maintain he has been the victim of abominable persecution."

General Roget next spoke of the arrest of Belfort of Quendill, declaring that Picquart cooked up the allegations of spying without Quendill in order to attract to himself the approval of his superiors.

The witness then dwelt upon the alleged forgery of the Schneider telegram, which he had given before the mobilization and concentration of the troops, pointing out that while intelligent and industrious, Dreyfus was "far too inquisitive, exacting, which did not concern him, to the detriment of his proper duties."

Dreyfus Self-possessed. Replying to a question of the court, General Roget replied that so far as he knew, Dreyfus had only once been given an imaginary task as a test. The prisoner listened intently to the witness, Dreyfus' self-control contrasting markedly with his excitement of yesterday.

M. Demange asked Colonel Jonaus, president of the court martial, to request General Roget to repeat the explanation of the court of cassation in regard to the part played in the affair by Major Du Paty de Clam, whereupon the witness declared that the court of cassation had found no fault with the conduct of Du Paty de Clam's steps to warn Esterhazy of the campaign said to be organizing against him. The general said he believed that the Esterhazy could be explained by the general staff, but he had not acted against De Clam because he saw nothing in it, in what he had done to save Esterhazy.

With reference to the document Esterhazy, a document forged in order to secure the release of Esterhazy, who he was court-martialed, General Roget said he only knew how it reached the ministry of war, adding that its disappearance was a curious mystery. But he said, doubtless De Clam could explain the matter.

Efforts to Save Esterhazy. Counsel for the defense here wanted to know how, under such circumstances, De Clam's intervention in behalf of Esterhazy could be explained. But the witness could only attribute it to Du Paty de Clam's moral conviction of Esterhazy's innocence.

"In my opinion, the general staff must be entirely disassociated with the part played by Du Paty de Clam in this case," he said.

"Certainly," replied M. Demange. "I attach great importance to this point," was the general's next remark. M. Demange asserted that, but added: "What I would like to know is how an innocent man like Esterhazy was thought to need this kind of help?"

"It is certain I should not have done it," answered the witness, which caused renewed laughter.

The general then added that although he would not intervene himself to save Esterhazy, he did not consider the course followed as being reprehensible.

Was a Curious Proceeding. M. Demange then questioned the witness as to what he thought of Esterhazy's attempt to obtain from an agent a declaration that he had nothing to do with the affair to which the general referred. Esterhazy admitted that Esterhazy's action was a curious proceeding for an innocent man to take.

Counsel then invited the special attestation of the court martial to the witness' reply. Then he took the general to task for playing yesterday the part of general accuser, particularly to the Esterhazy case. The general replied that he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case, but he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case.

General Roget, on resuming his testimony, criticized the surveillance inaugurated by Colonel Picquart over Lieutenant Colonel Henry. His surveillance, he said, lasted several months, and included the intervention of letters addressed to Esterhazy. There had also been searches of Henry's house during his absence.

Admits Esterhazy a Scoundrel. All these measures, the witness asserted, were carried out without the authorization of the minister of war, who was not even informed of them. Moreover, he asserted, the investigations were carried out without the secret service fund. The witness also objected to Colonel Picquart's methods of watching Mlle. Paysa. In regard to the Esterhazy case, the witness said the Esterhazy was a gambler and an immoral character, but he asserted "while I have acknowledged his little failings, I nevertheless maintain he has been the victim of abominable persecution."

General Roget next spoke of the arrest of Belfort of Quendill, declaring that Picquart cooked up the allegations of spying without Quendill in order to attract to himself the approval of his superiors.

The witness then dwelt upon the alleged forgery of the Schneider telegram, which he had given before the mobilization and concentration of the troops, pointing out that while intelligent and industrious, Dreyfus was "far too inquisitive, exacting, which did not concern him, to the detriment of his proper duties."

Dreyfus Self-possessed. Replying to a question of the court, General Roget replied that so far as he knew, Dreyfus had only once been given an imaginary task as a test. The prisoner listened intently to the witness, Dreyfus' self-control contrasting markedly with his excitement of yesterday.

M. Demange asked Colonel Jonaus, president of the court martial, to request General Roget to repeat the explanation of the court of cassation in regard to the part played in the affair by Major Du Paty de Clam, whereupon the witness declared that the court of cassation had found no fault with the conduct of Du Paty de Clam's steps to warn Esterhazy of the campaign said to be organizing against him. The general said he believed that the Esterhazy could be explained by the general staff, but he had not acted against De Clam because he saw nothing in it, in what he had done to save Esterhazy.

With reference to the document Esterhazy, a document forged in order to secure the release of Esterhazy, who he was court-martialed, General Roget said he only knew how it reached the ministry of war, adding that its disappearance was a curious mystery. But he said, doubtless De Clam could explain the matter.

Efforts to Save Esterhazy. Counsel for the defense here wanted to know how, under such circumstances, De Clam's intervention in behalf of Esterhazy could be explained. But the witness could only attribute it to Du Paty de Clam's moral conviction of Esterhazy's innocence.

"In my opinion, the general staff must be entirely disassociated with the part played by Du Paty de Clam in this case," he said.

"Certainly," replied M. Demange. "I attach great importance to this point," was the general's next remark. M. Demange asserted that, but added: "What I would like to know is how an innocent man like Esterhazy was thought to need this kind of help?"

"It is certain I should not have done it," answered the witness, which caused renewed laughter.

The general then added that although he would not intervene himself to save Esterhazy, he did not consider the course followed as being reprehensible.

Was a Curious Proceeding. M. Demange then questioned the witness as to what he thought of Esterhazy's attempt to obtain from an agent a declaration that he had nothing to do with the affair to which the general referred. Esterhazy admitted that Esterhazy's action was a curious proceeding for an innocent man to take.

Counsel then invited the special attestation of the court martial to the witness' reply. Then he took the general to task for playing yesterday the part of general accuser, particularly to the Esterhazy case. The general replied that he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case, but he had nothing to say to the Esterhazy case.

General Roget, on resuming his testimony, criticized the surveillance inaugurated by Colonel Picquart over Lieutenant Colonel Henry. His surveillance, he said, lasted several months, and included the intervention of letters addressed to Esterhazy. There had also been searches of Henry's house during his absence.

Admits Esterhazy a Scoundrel. All these measures, the witness asserted, were carried out without the authorization of the minister of war, who was not even informed of them. Moreover, he asserted, the investigations were carried out without the secret service fund. The witness also objected to Colonel Picquart's methods of watching Mlle. Paysa. In regard to the Esterhazy case, the witness said the Esterhazy was a gambler and an immoral character, but he asserted "while I have acknowledged his little failings, I nevertheless maintain he has been the victim of abominable persecution."

General Roget next spoke of the arrest of Belfort of Quendill, declaring that Picquart cooked up the allegations of spying without Quendill in order to attract to himself the approval of his superiors.

The witness then dwelt upon the alleged forgery of the Schneider telegram, which he had given before the mobilization and concentration of the troops, pointing out that while intelligent and industrious, Dreyfus was "far too inquisitive, exacting, which did not concern him, to the detriment of his proper duties."

Dreyfus Self-possessed. Replying to a question of the court, General Roget replied that so far as he knew, Dreyfus had only once been given an imaginary task as a test. The prisoner listened intently to the witness, Dreyfus' self-control contrasting markedly with his excitement of yesterday.

M. Demange asked Colonel Jonaus, president of the court martial, to request General Roget to repeat the explanation of the court of cassation in regard to the part played in the affair by Major Du Paty de Clam, whereupon the witness declared that the court of cassation had found no fault with the conduct of Du Paty de Clam's steps to warn Esterhazy of the campaign said to be organizing against him. The general said he believed that the Esterhazy could be explained by the general staff, but he had not acted against De Clam because he saw nothing in it, in what he had done to save Esterhazy.

With reference to the document Esterhazy, a document forged in order to secure the release